Everyday Miracles: Selected Poetry, 1956-1980 Robert Rozhdestvensky

The work of Robert Rozhdestvensky (b. 1932), a prominent Soviet poet, is first and foremost remarkable for the civic and moral message his lyrical poetry carries. In the 25 years of his literary career he has published more than thirty books. Very well known are his tragic poem "Requiem", dedicated to the memory of the war dead, and the epic poem "210 Paces", which was awarded the USSR State Prize. Many of his verses have been set to music by the best Soviet composers. "What I value most in Robert Rozhdestvensky is his enviable ability to pose difficult questions and tackle them in the reader's full view, looking for and finding answers that may not be necessarily to everybody's taste but invariably inspire respect to the author's purity of purpose, honesty, and conviction. Of course, it is not problems alone that poetry lives by, I realise that full well, but poetry without problems is dead poetry, I am profoundly convinced of that, too." That was what Konstantin Simonov said of Rozhdestvensky. The present edition includes poems written over a period of many years. In 1977 Progress published a collection of Rozhdestvensky's poems in French. It was warmly received by foreign readers and press alike.
