Use this resource for in-service training in the care of the client with diabetes. A general review of the anatomy and physiology of the nervous system focusing on the endocrine system, an overview of diabetes, and glucose management and control are discussed. Specific roles and functions of the home care aide; especially observation, reporting and recording information are stressed. Safety and emergency procedures abuse issues, and psychosocial influences are also addressed. End-of-chapter review questions test readers' comprehension of the material.
