'GCSE Medieval British History' covers the new (2016+) medieval components of each of the main exam board GCSE specifications (AQA, Edexcel and OCR). Chapters are structured around a number of key issues, each of which directly addresses an aspect of the new specifications. Each chapter contains a compelling narrative interwoven with questions and tasks employing a variety of source material, all of which is designed specifically for students at this level. 'GCSE Medieval British History' is a unique collaboration between History teachers at school (St Paul's School) and university (University of East Anglia). The book is published in a conventional print format but is also available as an ebook and offers additional interactive extensions through continually updated digital resources.
