Why Visit Sulawesi? Divers don't have to be told to visit either Sulawesi or Indonesia, home to some of the World's best diving; with some of the highest levels of biodiversity in the world! Bunaken National Marine Park in North Sulawesi has 7 of the 8 species of giant clams - 70 genera of corals (Hawaii only has 10) - and may even have more fish species than the Philippines. The main focus of those, in-the-know, is to visit the ethnic Toraja people in the mountainous region of South Sulawesi; attend elaborate funeral rites that usually last several days; see burial sites carved into rocky cliffs where effigies of the dead keep watch; and unusual houses called, tongkonan. Tongkonan are large, peaked-roof traditional houses (similar to some seen in other parts of the world).
